BIOGRAPHY

A native of Redding, California, Brian Anderson began his musical studies and career in his hometown, attending Shasta College and performing in the rock band Ozone. After transferring to San Francisco State University he changed his emphasis from commercial to symphonic music, completing his undergraduate degree there and studying trumpet with Joseph Alessi and Donald Reinberg. He then finished his graduate degree at the San Francisco Conservatory of Music as a student of San Francisco Symphony principal trumpeter Glenn Fischthal.

In the years that followed were positions in several orchestras, including the Berkeley Symphony, the Napa Valley Symphony, the California Symphony, the Santa Rosa Symphony, the Santa Cruz Symphony, and the Sacramento Symphony. He co-founded the quintet San Francisco Brass, and later his own group, the seven-piece St. Francis Brass Ensemble. He also played several summer festivals, including the Lake Tahoe Music Festival, the Yachats Music Festival, Bear Valley Festival, and Oregon Coast Music Festival. His musical touring has taken him to Africa, the Middle East, and Japan.

Today Brian is Principal Trumpet in the Vallejo Symphony, the Stockton Symphony, the Fresno Philharmonic, the Monterey Symphony, the Pro Art Symphony, and the North State Symphony. He has made over fifteen solo appearances with orchestras over the past several years, and continues to add more with this current season. The arrangements for brass groups that he penned are now being published and made available for performing. He lives in Pittsburg, California with his wife Stephanie, and enjoys motorcycling and travel.

CRITICAL ACCLAIM/REVIEWS

Solano Arts Alliance

“...if medals are to be awarded, they should go to Brian Anderson for his stunning trumpet work...”

Stockton Record

“Brian Anderson’s trumpet solo...was so nearly perfect that it would make even a reprobate long for the day of judgment.”

Fresno Bee

“Anderson was a polished performer, bringing out the florid embellishments so integral to this style of writing.”

Monterey County Herald

“This was the kind of playing that could bring the walls of Jericho tumbling down.”

The Californian

“...Anderson demonstrated a flawless technical ability and complete control of intonation, phrasing and dynamics.”

Stockton Record

“...Henri Tomasi's Concerto for Trumpet and Orchestra, was superbly played by Brian Anderson. It was a mix of lovely quiet passages and some terrific, muted, whirling piles of notes--so exciting that when, in Redding, Mr. Anderson's music picked itself up off his stand and whirled gracefully to the floor, it seemed somehow appropriate.”
