Jed Gaylin, conductor

“...a conductor who knows exactly what he wants...”

— Łódź Philharmonic (Poland)

“Jed Gaylin’s conducting was consistently impressive, with a propulsive sweep that allowed the lyricism to linger.”

— Baltimore Sun

“Above all, one senses the absolute devotion with which the orchestra follows him.”

— Basler Zeitung, Switzerland

Alan Kolc©

In the U.S. and Europe, Jed Gaylin is praised for performances characterized by insight, powerful sound, precision, expansive phrasing, and conviction.

Since 1997, Mr. Gaylin has been Music Director of the acclaimed Bay-Atlantic Symphony in New Jersey, where he is credited with forging a formidable ensemble. Mr. Gaylin also holds the post of Principal Conductor of the prestigious

Cape May Music Festival, where the Bay-Atlantic Symphony has been orchestra in residence 2003. He also works regularly with the Sibiu State Philharmonic (Romania), where he is Principal Guest Conductor.

A much sought-after guest conductor throughout Europe, Mr. Gaylin has appeared with orchestras including the Academia del Gran Teatre del Liceu for repeat engagements (Barcelona, Spain), the Bucharest Radio Orchestra and Sibiu State Philharmonic (Romania), the Lodz Philharmonic and Pomorska Philharmonic (Poland), and the Gnessin Institute Orchestra and Moscow Chamber Symphony (Russia), as well as the Orquesta Sinfonica de Guanajuato (Mexico). Guest appearances for 2006 included a return to Barcelona to conduct the Academia, and a highly celebrated production of Rigoletto with Opera Vivente in Baltimore. Upcoming highlights are engagements with the Shanghai Conservatory Orchestra (December 06), a return to Opera Vivente to conduct the American premiere of Jonathan Dove’s Tobias and the Angel (March 08), and a tour with the Orvieto Festival Orchestra in Italy (August 07).

In 2004, National Public Radio's "Weekend Edition" featured an in-depth profile of the Bay-Atlantic Symphony. NPR aired selections of the orchestra's live performance of Petrouchka and Brahms' Symphony No. 1 to over four million listeners. Other radio broadcasts include the Voice of America airing the Bay-Atlantic Symphony throughout Europe and the former Soviet Union, a 2003 Bay-Atlantic Symphony performance aired repeatedly on NPR, and an all-Schubert concert with the Bucharest Radio Orchestra, played nationally in Romania.

Mr. Gaylin has received numerous awards as a conductor. He was chosen to work with Leonard Slatkin and the National Symphony in the first National Conducting Institute. Other awards include a National Endowment for the Arts grant, a Conducting Fellowship at the Aspen Music Festival, the Presser Music Award, and membership in the National Musical Honors Society.

Mr. Gaylin attended the Oberlin and Peabody Conservatories. His conducting teachers have included Frederik Prausnitz, Leonard Slatkin, Jahja Ling, Murry Sidlin, Paul Vermel, and Michel Singher, and, for piano, Lydia Frumkin. Mr. Gaylin lives in Baltimore with his wife, writer Lia Purpura, and their son.

CRITICAL ACCLAIM

“...a conductor who knows exactly what he wants...”

— Łódź Philharmonic (Poland)

“Jed Gaylin’s conducting was consistently impressive, with a propulsive sweep that allowed the lyricism to linger.”

— Baltimore Sun

“Above all, one senses the absolute devotion with which the orchestra follows him.”

— Basler Zeitung, Switzerland

Those of us who want our children to appreciate classical music could start by taking them to the pre-concert lectures and concerts of the Bay-Atlantic Symphony with conductor Jed Gaylin. Unlike the Young Peoples Concerts of Leonard Bernstein, however, these lectures are open to all ages.

This engaging and charismatic conductor - who is also music director of the Johns Hopkins Symphony in Baltimore - presents a thrilling lecture series before each concert. And when he conducts, you feel the music is speaking directly from each composers' language.

A most touching intermezzo was the "Song." This beautiful lyric sound poem in A minor was handled masterfully with the most delicate articulations of a sad and bleak scenario.

The "Firebird" score makes several demands on members of the orchestra to participate as soloists, and each of their entrances was successfully executed. The players were best, however, when playing in larger groups, with each section sounding like a single precision instrument pitted against other groups.

From the dark and menacing beginning to the exhilaration of the "Final Hymn," this reviewer was entranced. Conductor Gaylin kept the tension of the line while maintaining suspense.

This marvelous orchestra is a must see, or rather must hear.
