BIOGRAPHY

Born in the small town of Selma, Indiana in 1951, John Gordon Ross received a B.M. from Ball State University and a M.M. from Northwestern University and also attended the Cleveland Institute of Music. His conducting teachers were Robert Hargreaves, Thomas Briccetti, and Walter Hendl. He also benefited from the knowledge and experience of long-term mentor Robert Marcellus, former Principal Clarinetist of the Cleveland Orchestra and a noted conductor. He has also been a participating conductor in the master classes of Pierre Boulez and Victor Yampolsky.

He is still semi-active as a trombonist and is the 2nd Trombone (26 years) of the Lakeside Summer Symphony (1979-) in Lakeside, Ohio and also regularly performs in North Carolina. He has taught instrumental conducting at Middle Tennessee State University and Lenoir-Rhyne College as a guest faculty member and taught other courses at King College in Bristol, TN. Currently he is an adjunct faculty member at Lenoir-Rhyne College. He held the title of Artist-in-Residence at Cleveland State University from 1977-79. He has also regularly conducted and adjudicated at educational festivals in Tennessee and North Carolina and served as guest conductor of the Tennessee Governor's School of the Arts Orchestra on three occasions. Recently he conducted the Appalachian State University Orchestra.

He was also the recipient of one of the initial Coleridge-Taylor Perkinson Travel to the Collections Grants from the Center for Black Music Research in 2005. He served as a panelist at the 2005 American Symphony League National Conference and the 2006 Chamber Music America National Conference.

John Gordon Ross, has a strong record of presenting and supporting living composers. Last season he presented world premieres by American's Dan Locklair and Jeffrey Mumford. This season he conducted regional premieres of works by Rouse, Coleridge-Taylor, Kernis, Nielsen, and Peck. He has conducted over 500 orchestral and small orchestra works, including over 30 world premieres. Next season the WPS will present new works by Nkeiru Okoye and Meira Warshauer.

He is married (25 years) to cellist and award-winning educator and cellist Sarah Rocco Ross. They are parents to Gracie a three-year old cockapoo.

CRITICAL ACCLAIM

•“A program such as last night’s can be one of the most difficult for an orchestra to play. ...Yet last night the Kingsport Symphony Orchestra passed muster. John Gordon Ross reached for it last night. And he walked away a winner.” KINGSPORT TIMES-NEWS

•“The orchestra (Cleveland Philharmonic Orchestra) under Ross’s direction contributed a great deal of intensity and dramatic continuity to the Berlioz’ drama (“Le Mort de Cleopatre”. In other works, it performed a vigorous and lyrical overture to “Ruslan and Ludmila” by Glinka to open the program. ...The orchestra’s basically fine and full sound showed up on Sunday. It was a good beginning for a new season.” CLEVELAND SUN-PRESS

•“The orchestra,...was in mid-season form as it played the William Schumann “American Festival Overture”. It played with crispness and snap and precision. Ross has the players listening carefully to one another with the result that the intonation was especially commendable...” CLEVELAND PRESS, October 1977

•“With great vision, John Gordon Ross, music director and conductor, has ably guided a group of gifted musicians through a demanding season of performances that featured a wide spectrum of concerts and guest artists.” HICKORY DAILY RECORD

•“Again, conductor Ross displayed with every gesture and bodily moves his oneness with the ever-changing musical moods to elicit a wonderful interpretation from the orchestra. Copland (“The Tender Land Suite”) must have cheered silently from above.” HICKORY NEWS
